Urecley on the Election.

Our dispatch from New York this morning significant. It reveals the growing decondency of the Radicals. It is equivalent THE STORY OF A PROVOST MARSHAL just before giving up the ghost. We learn from this dispatch that Mr. Greeley, in an from this dispatch that Mr. Greeley, in an article published yesterday in the Independent, concedes that Ohio will give ten throusand majority for Seymour unless the Badicals do better than they have been doing. Mr. Greeley seems to have taken "the hint" lof the Kentucky election which scarcely impressed the Cincinnati Grzette. He does not, like the latter sheet, whistie to keep up his courage, and yow, in chattering secents that like the latter sheet, whistle to keep up his courage, and vow, in chattering accents that he is not seared! On the contrary, it seems that he confesses his alarm and urges his co-conspirators against public liberty to work and dig and sap away at the foundations of the Constitution, until upon its ruins shall be erected the rude structure of military depotism. It seems to be the opinion of Mr. Greeley that uhless the work of destruction be urged with more energy, General Grant will be hopelessly defeated, and the philosopher concedes that his chances are hopeless unless he succeeds in carrying at least two of the four States of Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

We regard such a concession as equivalent and to an acknowledgment of defeat. We do not wonder that the Radicals seek to hide, by constant allusions to the past, the hateful policy which they have been so long pursuing; but it don will require more cunning than their leaders possess to shift the issues of the contest to questions which have been already decided by the war. Let the Radicals work, as they are was should be a supered to do by Mr. Greekey. Let there access thou crament. Let them work, as unscrupulous sudience, and being allowed to recivistic from favorities. With one of the bayonet the sentiments of liberty in the hearts of the people. Let them seek to plot and scheme to maintain in power the mis-erable triumvirate of Butler, Bingham and Munner. Let them plot to make a brave sol-dier the puppet to be moved at the will of such political juggiers. Let them work as they may, under the influence of these spirits of darkness: yet the power of light will prevail, and Radicalism will be ex-posed in all its hideous deformity. The Radi cal conspirators may plot in the darkness against the rights of the citizen, and work with all the activity of evil satures, yet the people are capable of working with equal zeal Mr. Greeley's advice to his party to work, should inspire the Democracy also to renewed exertions. A few weeks of well-directed effort will secure the victory which is almost within their grasp. A few weeks of devotion to the Constitution will secure the fruits of civil liborigination with secure the runs of a constitu-ctional Union beneath the wreek of the despot-ism they seek to rear through the instru-mentality of the bayonet and the negro. Address of the State Central Com-mittee.

The committee of the Council which is charged with the equisideration of this matter will doubtless fully weigh the merits of the question, and soon report the result of their deliberation. It is not the result of their decision, and soon report the rault of their deliberations. It is reasonable to assume that their report will favor a project which promises so many advantages to the city. But in relecting a locality which will give general satisfaction, there will be some difficulty. It is natural that each section of the city would prefer to secure for itself the chief advantages to result from so important an cuterpies, and more cons will be called upon to overcome. Partial legislation, unfortunately, is too eften employ-ed to defeat great public measures in the interests of individuals. But in a matter so impor-tant to the present, as well as to the future welfare of the city, we trust that our own leg-lators will not fall into the error committed y so many other city governments, and neg-et to provide at this time for the wants of the ising generation. A SKETCH OF THE SEYMOUR FAMILY

The Charge of Hereditary Insanity. The New York World, in replying to the leais are dealing, gives the following interesting particulars about the Seymour family:

For a family in which there larks a hereditary taint of lusanity, that of Governor Seymour presents the most surprising record ever heard of. It is a Connecticut family, nearly all of whose male members for two generations have filled, high official trusts, either in that State or in States to which they emigrated. The following higgraphical notices of some of them are copied from Lanman's
"Dictionary of Congress":

He was a member of the New York Assembly in
